The Canadian singer and actor returns to Chile to present two high quality performances featuring his best hits. With a career spanning more than fifty years, the creator of the greatest classics, “Diana”, “Put Your Head On My Shoulder”, and “My Way” is visiting the country once again to enchant his fans with his worldly acclaimed songs.

The performances will take place this month; the first one on Monday 22nd, the day of the opening of the Viña del Mar Festival, and the second, a more intimate show, at the Viña del Mar Casino. People will be able to enjoy his geniality and enormous talent in a luxury gala in which the protagonists are the songs that have made history and have given him the title of world’s biggest performer and songwriter.

For his act at the Quinta Vergara, the venue for the Viña Festival, Anka will perform his major hits and will also make a small tribute to Michael Jackson with the song “This is it”. For that night, he also plans to sing the hit “Let Me Try Again”, a song that reached second place at the International competition in Viña Festival in 1972.

Paul Anka will arrive to the country on February 21st. He has already requested to visit the port city of Valparaiso.
